

Fort Washington, PA – November 3rd, 2009 – Futura Services, Inc., a leader in managed services for mobile technology, announced today that is supplying New Era Tickets with bar coding scanning equipment and repairs in support of their various ticketing operations around the country. Ron Friedman, IT Director for New Era , said “Futura’s prices are very competitive, and we like the fact that they are a local business that is a phone call or drive away from us.” The equipment is being used to scan tickets for entry into various sporting and entertainment events.

About Futura Services, Inc.

A leader in managed services for mobile technology, Futura Services, Inc. provides mobile device management and network support services for small businesses through Fortune 500 organizations. Focused on improving efficiency and reducing costs for its clients, Futura supports over 2,500 customers and over 90,000 mobile technology users daily. Founded in 1992, the company is headquartered in Fort Washington, PA. To learn more about Futura and their cost saving suite of technology solutions, contact Eric Nolan at enolan@futureservices.net.

About New Era Tickets

New Era Tickets, the full-service ticketing and digital fan marketing subsidiary of Comcast-Spectacor, is an international leader in providing full-service ticketing and database marketing solutions for public assembly facilities, sports organizations, and entertainment companies. For more information, visit www.neweratickets.com.